

Editorial :

Readers, echoing the words of our last edition - we regard ourselves merely, as a media of communication. We are not here to protest, promulgate or prophesy.

The only cause we are fighting for is the unification, solidarity and the well being of OUR Battery. To do this with any measure of success, we need YOUR support.

In our reportage we may at times slightly offend some people or section. We trust that this will be taken in the spirit in which it is written and remember, OUR sole aim is fighting for OUR cause

The Editors.

Weather Forecast:

Rain.....Wet; Winds.....breaking; Thirst.....enormous;
Outlook.....Drunk.

Young Man in a Hurry.

Sgt. "Chalkie" Royal has received his well earned promotion to WO 2, and with his building biceps bulging, there'll be no holding him back in the future.

Transport Trifles.

The Battery Transport Office is certainly the hive of industry with Bdr. "Rake" Bonser, plus bloodshot eyes, fingers worn to the bone, in control. He is ably assisted by his lone driver "Sandy" Saunders, who is out to break an endurance record, having been at the wheel for something like 48 out of the last 36 hours. But they've got no real problems..... how could they have with only one serviceable vehicle!

Bright Horizons.

Rumours from the Orderly Room are that with the replacements coming

.....2/ in

in, there are going to be some changes in postings within the Battery.

Our Arty. Int. Sgt. will be promoted to "Executive-in-control" of the building project (which should be well in hand by then).

Five Day Bliss.

Mick Campbell has just returned from R & R in Bangkok and there were no reports of roits from there. By the looks of Mick, on his return, he must have slept in the baggage compartment on the plane back- don't worry, the rest at Horseshoe will do you the world of good "old buddy".

A Thought;

My darling your so far away,
But in my heart you'll always stay,
I dream sometimes that you are here,
And reach to touch your face so dear,
Then I awake, and it's once more gone,
Please darling, don't stay away too long,
I need you here, not over there,
So hurry home my life to share.

Thanks Ray Hutchinson

Bereavement Notice.

The writers and staff extend their deepest sympathy to the O.C. upon the death of the rosebud "Cleo". "Cleo", aged 3 months, died as a result of squeezing by some evil sadist. The O.C. couldnt be contacted to-day for comment and his ADC Pete Fletcher is reported to be under heavy sedation

Local News...

Bdr. Murray Poustie is making a fine recovery, and is now mastering a pair of crutches. He is looking forward to having his stitches out in about ten days. We're wondering if the Arty. Int members will do a resection on him.

The O.C. returned from an outing in Vung Tau, but when asked about it he appeared pretty gummed up.

WANTED. Subscriptions by the trailer-load which can be dropped into the Orderly Room or handed to your Section Comdr. You could be lucky enough to have it printed!
